

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

There is provided an address storage which stores a mail address. A destination specification acceptance section accepts specification of any of mail addresses 5 stored in the address storage and determines a specified mail address to be a transmission destination address. An address registration section includes specified registration specification information, responds to reception of electronic mail having a body 10 embedded with separate electronic mail, and stores, in the address storage, a sender's mail address indicated in a header of the separate electronic mail.

40051540 0612602